The Academy for Lifelong Learning of Cape Cod, Inc. (A.L.L.) is a non-profit organization established in 1987 as part of the Center for Successful Aging at Cape Cod Community College. In 1990 A.L.L. was spun off from the college and became an independent and self-governing entity. Throughout our history, A.L.L. has maintained a close and productive relationship with the college.

A.L.L. is an organization of men and women aged 50 and older that offers its members primarily academic courses in addition to several creative and “how-to” courses in the fall and spring semesters. Classes vary from semester to semester. Academic offerings may include courses in literature, history, current events, art appreciation, opera, and film, while creative courses may include topics such as gardening, sports, painting, cooking, and other skills of interest to our membership.

A.L.L. offers its members the opportunities to expand social relationships and offers social activities and special events such as lectures and trips to theater productions and museums in the area throughout the year. Social interaction and volunteerism are important aspects of A.L.L. and members are encouraged to become class coordinators, participate on committees, work on administrative activities, or just participate in any of the classes or activities. Our membership fee covers most academic and social events as well as classes.

Currently A.L.L. offers classes at the main campus of Cape Cod Community College in West Barnstable, at the Mashpee Senior Center, and at the Hyannis North Street Campus. Other campuses are being checked out for potential use and others are sometimes used as appropriate. If you are over 50 we have something of interest to you; if not, we are sure you have something of interest to us.
